The State Printing.

There is always more or less complaint in regard to State printing. Charges are often made to the effect that the work costs more than it ought to; that overcharges are made; that the work is not well done, etc. This is not applicable to our present State Printer, that we have heard of. We know of no complaint in regard to him; and, therefore, we believe he has performed his duty well and satisfactorily—honestly and conscientously.—LaGrange Reporter.

MEADE ON LEE.

An Interesting Tribute to the Great Confederate, Published for the First Time.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 29, 1872.

Editors Constitution: The article in THE CONSTITUTION which reached me recently, exhibiting the estimate in which Gen. Meade was held by General Lee—an opinion so flattering to the military skill of the former—reminded me of the estimate which General Meade once expressed to me of the illustrious Confederate who confronted him at Gettysburg. As it has never appeared in print your readers may feel some interest in the judgment to which I have referred.

Shortly after coming to Atlanta General Meade called at my house, bearing a letter of introduction from a friend in Philadelphia, when the following dialogue occurred:

"Well, General, you fought the decisive battle of the late war. Our cause never recovered from the disaster suffered at Gettysburg."

"Yes, sir, I think that is so. Had Lee whipped me at Gettysburg the South would have triumphed. He could then have gone to Washington, Philadelphia, or New York. There was nothing to interrupt his progress."

"General, do you know why we did not whip you at that time?" I inquired.

"No; I should like to know."

"Stonewall Jackson was not there."

"You are mistaken, sir. You Southerners know, all think that there was no such man as Jackson. But Lee was incomparatively his superior. He was decidedly the very first soldier in the Southern army."

It matters very little what General Meade thought of General Lee. The military fame of the latter cannot be impaired by any adverse criticism of those who fought against him. It has been recognized by candid men in both hemispheres. But it is gratifying to the friends of our illustrious chieftains to know that one whom he esteemed so highly as an officer, cherished towards him the opinion I have mentioned.

I see that the papers have not yet finished their reasons explanatory of Greeley's defeat. The truth is that Northern Democrats have been educated for the last quarter of a century to consider H. G. their most violent antagonist, and in many thousands of instances, they could not be persuaded to accept him as their leader. In this State, so thoroughly Democratic Greeley had a beggarly majority of 927 votes. When the Democratic aversion and apathy there was added the money power of the country, which was nearly unanimous for Grant, the result is easily explained.

You have noticed, I presume, that W. W. Corcoran, Esq., of Washington, has just given $250,000 to the Columbia College—a Baptist institution in the District of Columbia. But this is only twice as much as Macon gave to Mercer University in your State. It is said, however, that Mr. Corcoran has other and larger benefactions in store for the College. The institution already owns property worth more than $300,000, and if its munificent benefactor should endow it to the extent anticipated it will take rank with the best colleges of the country. The gentleman who has been so liberal to the institution is President of its Board of Trustees. BALTIMORE.

The New English-French Commercial Treaty.

The following is a clear synopsis of the substance of the new commercial treaty recently negotiated between England and France. On the very day of our presidential election, the plenipotentiaries of the two countries were busied in London singing this new treaty, which supercedes the treaty of 1860, framed by Messrs Richard Cobden and Michael Chevalier, at the bidding of Mr. Gladstone and Napoleon III. These parties, each a notability in his way, were free traders On the other hand, President Thiers, who abrogated the former and has substituted the new treaty, is a strong protectionist. The treaty of 1860 was based on a broad principle, which absolutely precluded either country from laying duties, exceeding a specified maximum, upon the products of the other; but under the treaty of 1872, except so far as Great Britain is protected by the most favored nation clause, no limitation is put upon the power of the French Government to levy whatever duties it may please upon British produce. So, when all the commercial treaties between France and the other powers run out (and that with Austria, which has the longest to run, will expire at the end of 1876), France may, and probably will, adopt and carry out pure protection. Lancashire and Yorkshire, the seats and centres of the cotton and woolen manufactures of England, vainly endeavoring to have free trade the basis of the treaty of 1872, as it was of that of 1860, but no obstinacy of President Thiers prevailed, and the principle of protection was recognized and re-admitted. Savannah Republican.

The Reason Why.

Editors Constitution: A correspondent of the Herald named "I." has paid a visit to "Liberty Hall," and like all visitors to that historic mansion, had had his heart warmed toward its illustrious proprietor, and concludes his discriptive letter with the following exclamatory, not to say, spasmodic, appeal in his behalf for the U. S. Senate:

"Why, it seems to us that at the mention of the name; that at the knowledge of his willingness to serve; all other candidates would retire from the field, and that one long, loud shout would burst forth from all over Georgia, echoing from the seaboard to the mountain, and from the mountains back to the seaboard, for 'Stephens, Stephens, Stephens, for the Senate!'"

The reasons why are numerous.

1. There are a number of other men who are thought worthy by numerous friends to the high position, and who would be much gratified with it.

2. There are many who think Mr. Stephens physically incompetent to the task of serving in the Senate, and they deeply regret the affliction which has rendered him so.

3. There are many people who have been induced to compare the past with the present, and the prospects for the future, and men with men, names with thoughts, passions with ideas, and who begin to think that all the mind in this State was not given to one man; that our Heavenly Father did not vouchsafe all the temporal wisdom of a great State to one man alone, and that there are men in Georgia whose opinions and views are more in harmony with their own, and whose election to the Senate would tend more to promote the real interest of our section.

4. The people of Georgia have had a large amount of experience which has been very bitter to them, and they can't entirely separate it from the effort to follow the teachings to which Mr. Stephens adheres, notwithstanding the thousands of lives that have been lost, the millions of property destroyed in the attempt to maintain them, and the fact accepted by all that the States have been subordinated to the power of the Federal Government.

5. There are many who can remember that when he retired from Congress prior to the war, and in his public speech at an ovation given him at Augusta, he reviewed his past course and connection with all the questions of division between the North and South, and declared them settled; and said that he was willing to be judged by the Grecian rule upon all of them—"that his course was not only the best that was thought of at the time, but the best that subsequent events showed might have been thought of and adopted."

Some of us lived to see that all those questions were not settled, and to doubt the infallibility claimed by the sage of Liberty Hall.

6. But last and not least, there are many of us who do not believe the course pursued by Mr. Stephens in the late canvass—was the one best for either, the Democratic party or for the South—while we have no disposition to quarrel with him or his special friends, if they will be content to smoke the pipe of peace with us. ALL ABOUT THIERS AND THE ASSEMBLY.

PARIS, December 1.—In the hall of the Assembly this afternoon, before the minutes of the previous sitting were ratified, Baragnon, the Conservative deputy, protested against the vote of yesterday on the resolution of Minister Dufaure, being recorded because several of the deputies were absent, and he did not believe the result was a fair expression of the will of the Assembly. M. Balbie said he considered that the vote eloquently demonstrated on which side the Conservative policy would be found. This remark gave rise to great excitement in the Chamber. Many of the Deputies protested against the language of Balbie, and recriminations passed backward and forward between opposing parties. A Deputy from Paris questioned the Government in relation to the encouraging addresses which had been sent to Thiers by the municipal council during the present controversy. He accused the Government of conniving at inciting them.

Lefranc, minister of the interior, warmly defended the action of the Government in receiving addresses, and announced that he acted for himself. The agitation in the Chamber here became very great.

Duval made a violent attack on the Government. Henceforth, he said, neither the Orleanists, Bonapartists nor the Legitimist will exist, but all will unite to arrest the fatal descent of courtesy. He continued in a violent strain, and concluded by moving a resolution that the municipal councils had violated the laws of the country and that La France, in receiving addresses from a President had also failed to observe them.

Amid such excitement, the Assembly proceeded to vote on the motion, and it was approved by 305 yeas, against 299 nays.

The result adduced great sensation in the Chambers, and the sitting was immediately brought to a close.

Throughout the entire debate party feeling was inflamed to its highest pitch, and the gloomiest impressions prevailed this evening in Paris.

It is believed that it will be impossible for Thiers to govern the country under present circumstances.

LATER.—It is announced that LaFranc has tendered his resignation to the President.

ATLANTA:

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1872.

The President's Message.

The lateness of the hour precludes any comment upon the President's message, which we give our readers in full, it having been specially telegraphed to THE CONSTITUTION.

The Municipal Election.

To-morrow comes off the municipal election. The independent ticket is so badly routed that it almost seems useless to say anything more against it.

The Radical adoption of the independent ticket as its agent of the reform it wants, as well as its chosen instrument of dividing and defeating the Democracy has had a happy effect.

We have Col. Hammock's address before us. He promises rigid economy, and the full discharge of duty by officials at fixed salaries without perquisites.

This is reform.

The issue is clear. It is a Democratic ticket against one of Radical adoption. It is Democrat against Radical.

Democrats can and will vote but one way.

Unanimous for Grant.

The Montgomery Advertiser suggests that as Mr. Greeley is dead Grant's election be made unanimous.

We dissent emphatically. In no manner does Grant represent the views of those who opposed him, and it would be a mockery and a crime to thus indorse him.

Already his partizans claim his re-election as an indorsement of everything that he has favored. The thing suggested by the Advertiser would feed this false claim and stultify every man who has honestly voted against Grant for the country's good.

We find it hard to understand our contemporary. Allowing it all credit for good motives, its suggestion is simply too preposterous to be even entertained for a moment.

Against the centralizing ideas of that administration represented by Grant, we enter an eternal protest, and rejoice at the opportunity to practically record it.

Bursted.

One of the most extraordinary deceptions of the day has been dissolved.

We have occasionally copied for our readers accounts of how the finest precious stones were being found in the West, in California and Arizona.

The thing is one of the biggest shams of the age. It is a fraud from beginning to end. Some sharp, scampish miners bought up a large number of rough diamonds and rubies, and scattered them over a scrap of land. They found them, of course, and the fame of the new diamond land spread like the ravenous epizootic.

A company was organized and called the Horpending Company. Offices were established; capitalists took stock; the new land of gems was bought at a big price, and mining was begun on a large scale.

The company has discovered the fraud, and is honest enough to disclose it to the world and pocket its losses. The sufferers are principally wealthy, astute capitalists who can afford to lose.

A man named Arnold was the chief cook in the swindle. He bought the jewels, and found the mine and sold it to the company.

Navigation Commissioner from Georgia.

We are pleased to observe that Gov. Smith appointed Col. B. W. Frobel Commissioner and member of the Board of Commissioners for the improvement of the navigation of the Ohio and its tributaries. We learn that Col. Frobel left here for Washington last night to be present at the meeting of the Board, which meets in that city during the present month.

We heartily approve the selection Governor Smith has made for this important position, Col. Frobel is thoroughly familiar, not only with the working of our present system of internal improvement, but also knows full well its deficiencies and our needs. In this matter of opening the navigation of these rivers, and especially the Tennessee, Georgia is deeply interested, especially in view of the fact that she may at no distant day become one of, if not the principal, outlets to the Atlantic for that vast trade which now in part centers at St. Louis. We are glad to see that our energetic and progressive Governor is fully alive to the importance of doing something toward securing for us the advantages of a trade so vast and important, and that he is of that school of statesmen who look to the future, and would not leave us immersed in our present financial troubles and bitter proverty. Governor Smith will receive the full approbation of every man in Georgia possessed of the ordinary degree of common sense. We confess that we believe in the party of material progress. We believe that in this policy our best interests are involved, and we support Gov. Smith as heartily as we have ever done upon this issue.

The Electoral Vote of Georgia.

To-day the Georgia Presidential electors meet to cast Georgia's vote.

The death of Mr. Greeley raises a novel contingency. How shall Georgia's electoral vote be cast? The matter has been creating some discussion.

In Tennessee the Nashville Union and American says that the general sentiment among prominent Democrats was in favor of Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks for President and Gratz Brown for Vice-President.

An Alabama contemporary urges the same idea that we have presented, viz: to vote for Mr. Greeley as a tribute of Southern sentiment in gratitude for kindness.

We still adhere to that idea.

Some have considered it as important in the light of its being a precedent.

If the vote is given to Mr. Greeley, Gratz Brown still stands where he would in the event of Mr. Greeley's election and death, viz: as the Presidential successor. The precedent, therefore, would conform to the law. In the absence of the chance to learn the party voice, this would be the natural solution of the matter.

We repeat that it will be a fitting Southern testimonial to the deceased whom he sought to befriend, and whose attempt resulted so sadly and fatally for himself, that the electoral vote of the South be given to the dead Greeley.

GEN. JNO. B. GORDON FOR STATE SENATOR.—No truer or more patriotic statesman could represent old Georgia in Congress than John B. Gordon. There is something lofty and chivalrous in his very name that inspires confidence and endears him to the hearts of a grateful people. General Gordon, above all other men in Georgia, deserves this manifestation of our esteem and affection. Let the Legislature elect him to a seat in the United States Senate, and our State will once more be represented by virtue and intelligence. We, therefore, hoist the name of Jno. B. Gordon for the Senate.

The Atlanta Herald.

A burnt child avoids the fire. But the Herald lacks even a child's discretion. Every time that its strange conduct compelled the notice of THE CONSTITUTION either for the public good or to repel its characteristic assaults, it has been invariably scathed and silenced. Experience, however, seems to learn it nothing, and every now and then it ventures to strike at THE CONSTITUTION.

We concluded finally to thoroughly lay bare the unjournalistic course of the Herald, in contrast with the kindly conduct of THE CONSTITUTION. Saturday morning last the article appeared, answering a charge made upon us in the usual spirit, and dispassionately affirming our efforts to inaugurate pleasant relations with the Herald, while distinctly setting forth its unneighborly and unprecedented deportment toward a cotemporary, indulging in "personalities," flinging epithets, decrying the business of THE CONSTITUTION, and the like. This seem to be admitted, as not even a denial is attempted. If it is, we shall promptly and unanswerably furnish the proof from the files of that journal.

But our exposure necessarily pierced to the quick. Something must be done to at least partially ward off the unstinted condemnation of all fair-minded men, as well as brethren of the press; consequently, without assaying any answer, the Herald seeks to break the force of this blow by demanding proof of our assertion, that we had "materially aided" it. In its characteristic controversial style it pronounces the statement "false."

We did "materially" aid the Herald, and the public shall have the proof, which will exhibit the conduct of that paper in still more livid colors. Indeed, the CONSTITUTION has extended aid, whose benefits can scarcely be measured.

The Associated Press is an institution whose members are the newspapers taking the daily telegraphic despatches. These despatches cost heavily, the CONSTITUTION having paid no less than some ten thousand dollars for them in the last four years. Without these despatches it is impossible for, a morning daily paper to exist, and to get them save through the Associated Press is so enormously expensive as to preclude its being done. In this Press Association the members have vested rights, and it has been decided that no new journal in any city will be allowed to become a member and receive the despatches, if the journals of that city, already members, object. For example, the Macon Telegraph steadily refuses its consent, and therefore no new journal in Macon has ever received the dispatches. Our Telegraph brethren, we believe, would not allow the privilege to a competitor for ten thousand dollars. And it is true, that the city press everywhere either refuse to part with the right or demand a heavy sum for it. Why should one journal confer upon another, without charge, facilities of business, which has cost the first an outlay of thousands upon thousands of dollars.

Now, the Herald could not have existed without these dispatches, and while it did exist could have been, of course, no rival of the journals that did take them. But, for THE CONSTITUTION'S consent, the Herald could not have obtained these dispatches. Isn't that a "material" advantage and a powerful one, when, without our favor, the Herald had no hope of life? Yet, reader, this is not all. Not by a great deal. The former manager of the Sun at first refused to consent. We finally induced him to agree, if the Herald would pay $1,000 cash for the privilege. As the Herald was not able to do this, we got the amount down to the paltry sum of $250 to each paper. After a few days' effort, the Herald failed to raise this amount of cash, and the CONSTITUTION, upon its own authority, accepted notes on forty days to be paid out of the sale of property in real estate agent's hands. But the Sun insisted on cash, and it was right; but still further to accommodate the Herald, we paid twenty-five dollars out of our own pocket to a broker to cash the note. It was generous in THE CONSTITUTION and Sun to consent on any terms; and their liberality is unequalled in Georgia journalism; for it is the invariable rule, wherever the privilege is granted, to require a heavy bonus for it. This is so eminently just that the Associated Press rigidly enforce the rights of its members in this particular.

THE CONSTITUTION not only did all this for the Herald, when it was in our power to have destroyed the paper by withholding the dispatches, but also, for some time, while negotiations were pending, we furnished that journal with the CONSTITUTION'S dispatches.

If this was not "material aid," and aid most vital and valuable, we are at a loss to say what would be. Yet the return for all this kindness has been a constant hissing and striking at its benefactor in a manner very suggestive of a familiar fable.

But we are not yet done. Following out the ingrate instincts of its nature, or its plans, the Herald announced that its subscription price was raised from $8 to 10, but it did so because "forced by THE CONSTITUTION." Now, reader, mark the withering exposure, and also the incontestable proof of THE CONSTITUTION'S kindly disposition. On reading the statement in the Herald, we dropped them the following note substantially:

DEAR SIRS—We infer from your editorial of this morning that you desire to continue the publication of the Herald at $8 00. As we do not desire to hamper your business in any respect, you have our free consent to do so. The purpose of the $10 00 agreement was simply to put all the city journals upon an equality.

This would have been sent you earlier in the day but for the necessity of ascertaining if the Sun, a party to the original agreement, had any objection. Very respectfully,

W. A. HEMPHILL & Co.

Reader, this note was never answered. Nevertheless, they kept their subscription price at $10, and did not even have the fairness to state the fact of our proffered release from the obligation to us. Comment would be grossly superfluous.

In conclusion, we have only to repeat that having failed to inaugurate pleasant relations in both business and editorial capacities, we dismiss the Herald with the admonition to run its own course, as we shall ours.

The Speakership of the Next House of Representatives of the General Assembly.

We are authoritatively informed that the Hon. George F. Pierce, of Hancock county, whose name has been frequently mentioned in connection with this position, has decided not to be a candidate therefor, and that he will earnestly support the nomination and election of the Hon. A. O. Bacon, of this county. This retirement of Mr. Pierce leaves the field to Messrs. Bacon and W. D. Anderson, of Cobb county, there being no other candidates named for the position in question so far as we are informed.

When it is remembered that Mr. Trammel, of Dalton, is strongly pressed for re-election as President of the Senate, and that in all probability he will be successful; and when it is further remembered that there are five candidates from North Georgia, alone, named by their friends for United States Senator, one of whom will, in all likelihood, be chosen, it does seem that this section should have some showing in the distribution of honors. And especially when she offers a man so thoroughly unexceptionable in every respect—so entirely fitted reason of ability and faithful service to dignify and adorn the Speakership as Captain Bacon—Macon Telegraph.

Cotton—No. 12.

The receipts this week are 131,000 bales—9,000 more than last year, and 10,000 less than two years since. It is likely the receipts for next week will be about 130,000 bales, compared with 10,000 last year, and 152,000 on the year before; and the receipts at the interior towns 35,000 bales, compared with 29,000 last year and 53,000 the year before.

This week the weather has been cloudy one day, clear and pleasant four days, and clear and cold two days. No rain.

The thermometer has averaged 50 degrees at noon. Day before yesterday was the coldest day ever known in this latitude in the month of November. The thermometer was 23 degrees at 7 A. M., and 24 degrees at noon. It is likely we shall have the longest continued and coldest weather during the month of December that has ever been known in Atlanta.

The market in New York this week has been dull and lower, caused by larger receipts, scarcity and high price of money, and the extreme scarcity of freight room, vessels to charter, especially steamers, have not been so scarce for a long time. This has kept exporters out of the market.

We believe vessels will be more plentiful and money cheaper by the time the new year comes in; and if so, exporters will buy freely, and this will cause an active market.

Many persons ask us "Why does not the price go down here and in Europe, when there is everything against it—extremely large receipts, by far the largest since the war, money very scarce, and vessels to ship the cotton to Europe very scarce." The reasons are there was no American cotton, outside of Liverpool, in August. The mills had to be supplied or stop running, and many persons have delivered their cotton at the ports, and then given orders to hold it for certain prices. This makes the offerings light. The course of the market for the next nine months is likely to be this: When there is a decline a large portion of the good cotton will be withdrawn from the market entirely, and only offered again sparingly upon an active and advancing market.

Liverpool has risen this week with medium sales. The rise is only one-sixteenth of a penny for spots, but future arrivals for December, which were much depressed last month, has risen in the past few days ½ of a penny, which is equal to ¼ a cent a pound. This has made contracts in New York stronger, and it is likely the lowest prices for February and March contracts, have already passed. The receipts for November are smaller than we expected—only 15 per cent. more than last year. If this ratio be carried out the crop will be only 3,450,000 bales. The total receipts at the seven largest interior towns are 360,000 bales, compared with 317,000 last year, same time. If this be taken as a basis of the crop it will be only 3,400,000. The receipts for the months of December (allowing five weeks) for the past six years have been as follows: 1866, 369,000; 1867, 477,000; 1868, 420,000; 1869, 544,000; 1870, 707,000; 1871, 605,000. If the increase this year over last is 10 per cent., it will make the receipts this month, of five weeks, 665,000 bales, or 133,000 bales per week. Our last letter from Manchester reports that in consequence of higher prices paid to laborers, and the high price of coal, profits are not so large as last year; but the demand for goods and yarns, for export, is fully up to their expectations. For the month of October the exports this year over the last were 7 per cent. in goods and 20 per cent. in yarns. For the ten months of this year the increase over last has been 2½ per cent. in goods, and 6 per cent. in yarns. This requires 200,000 bales more cotton than last year to supply this increased demand. The increased export last month was principally to Turkey and India.

The present estimate of the American crop in Liverpool is from three and a half to four millions of bales. In New York it is three and a half to three and three-fourth millions. In New Orleans it is three and one-fourth to three and one-half millions. Suppose after January the receipts should fall off so as to make the New Orleans estimate the general one, will not speculators enter the market with the spinners and thus make a very active market for several weeks? The stocks of cotton in Liverpool, and afloat for that port, for five years are as follows:

	1868	1869	1870	1871	1872
Stocks	338,000	385,000	363,000	486,000	420,000
Afloat	254,000	292,000	350,000	384,000	222,000
Total	622 000	677,000	743,000	868,000	642,000

The amount to be delivered at that port in the month of December is less than for five years past, same time.

The American cotton in and afloat for Liverpool for five years is as follows:

	1868.	1869.	1870.	1871.	1872.
Stocks	44	19	62	57	50
Afloat	78	139	242	142	122
Total	122	158	304	199	172

The receipts this year, so far, show 250,000 bales more than last year, same time; and still the quantity of American in sight is less than for two years past, same time.

We give this year and the past four years for reference.

	1868.	1869.	1870.	1871.	1872.
Stocks, interior ports	44	69	89	74	74
Stocks, United States	237	285	393	389	407
Stocks, Liverpool	44	19	62	57	50
Afloat for Liverpool	78	139	242	142	122
Exports this week	34	59	60	86	35
Total	441	567	846	705	688,000

As we are now at the end of three months, we will revise our estimate of receipts. We now compare with last year, as that year, from this time, was more forward than any year since the war. Receipts last year, to this date, 850,000 bales, which was thirty-two per cent. of the total receipts at the ports. This year the receipts have been 1,138,000 bales for same time. Taking the receipts as a basis, it makes this crop 3,982,000.

Taking the per cent. as a basis, it makes this crop 3,536,000 to be received at the ports, to which must be added, for overland and Southern consumption, 250,000, making a total crop of 3,806,000. But on account of the very forward crop and fine picking season, we believe the above figures much too large. We suppose there has been 35 per cent. of the crop received to this date, making the total crop 3,500,000 bales, which is our present estimate. Our own spinners are taking from the ports much larger amounts than ever before—having taken for the past three months for five years, as follows: 1868, 166,000; 1869, 159,000; 1870, 197,000; 1871, 190,000; 1872, 255,000.

The exports to foreign countries for the past three months for four years are as follows:

	1869.	1870.	1871.	1872.
To Great Britain	357	404	290	305
To Continent	156	55	45	135
Total	513	455	335	440

The above figures show where the excess of receipts have gone to.

The Continent was bare of good American cotton, and the demand for that kind makes it comparatively scarce. Liverpool will have to bid higher and raise her prices if she expects to get her share of this crop. France, Spain and Russia, all want good cotton. No other kind will answer their purpose as well. Liverpool takes a large quantity of poor American cotton to mix with her India cotton. The last bureau report makes the crop 3,450,000 bales, which is 50,000 less than our present estimate.

The Bank of England held, two weeks ago, $100,000,000 of gold and has now increased it ten millions more. The rate of interest has been reduced to 6 per cent., and money is decidedly easier. The German government has $100,000,000 of gold, which has been recoined this year. This will be put in circulation after January 1st, and will help to make money easier. Several of our friends have asked us the past week when will be the time to buy cotton. We will say to all who expect to buy cotton this winter for future delivery that if we were going to buy at all, we would rather buy within the next two weeks than any other time.

The largest crop ever gathered was in 1859—4,476,000—and 35 per cent. was received up to this time. The crop of 1860 was 3,461,000 and 38 per cent. was received up to this date. This year our estimate is 3,500,000 bales, and that 35 per cent. has been received.

The Alabama Muddle.

It is very natural to think our own side right. A Democrat sympathizes with the Democratic cause without knowing the facts. The Radical, of course, thinks with his own people.

In the [illegible] Radicals have pretty nearly u[illegible] been of a type, and have done thi[illegible] that damned them in all honest eyes, prima facie. North it has been different. To be a good man can be a Radical. South a Radical is about inevitably bound to be a bad man. The exceptions are rare.

Hence when we find a Southern Radical in a controversy, the chances are ten to one he is at some rascality.

The Alabama difficulty, as far as we can see, confirms the rule.

Our readers are aware that the Democratic and Radical members have each organized a Legislature. The Democrats have a quorum and the formalities of the law on their side. They get their quorum by admitting members elect from Barbour and Marengo counties, whom the Radicals claim to be fraudulently declared elected.

Governor Lindsay, the retiring Democratic Governor, recognized the Democratic body. Governor Lewis, the new Radical Governor, recognizes the Radical body.

An attempt at compromise was made. The Radical body agreed to unite with the other, if the Democrats declared elected from Barbour and Marengo counties—eight altogether—be refused seats and Radicals be seated in their places. This, besides overthrowing the election in those counties without an investigation into and proof of fraud, would destroy the Democratic majority in the Assembly and substitute therefor a Radical majority on joint ballot. Of course this majority is the Radical aim.

The Democrats properly rejected the proposition, and submitted a proposition to the effect that the Radicals from Barbour county be admitted, the Democrats retiring with the privilege of contesting the matter; that the Democratic Speaker of the House resign and the Radicals have a chance to join in another organization; and that the Marengo county election be referred back to the county for a new election.

The Radicals decline these seemingly fair propositions, artfully and treacherously claiming that the Democrats admit in making them that the elections in Barbour and Marengo counties are fraudulent. This is a characteristic specimen of Radical trickery to thus construe a compromise offered simply for peace.

Under this plain unvarnished and unexaggerated statement of the facts, it will be seen that an outrage of the first magnitude is on the Radical docket in Alabama.

Our Alabama Democratic friends must possess their souls in as much patience as possible, keep a stiff upper lip, stand steadfast to the right, and they may perhaps preserve the nest-egg of good State government for future use.

But how much intermediary trouble they will have to undergo, Governor Lewis, a Radical Legislature, a Radical Congress, a Radical President and the devil only know.

WASHINGTON.

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, December 2.—The Senate passed the House resolution regarding Mr. Greeley and adjourned, after reading the message.

The debt statement shows a decrease of the debt of $1,125,000.

Coin in the treasury $60,500,000. Currency $10,125,000.

The treasury report says that the necessity exists for a new issue of national bank notes.

The Secretary exonerates the Assistant Secretary of the treasurer, Hillhouse, from neglect of duty in the stamp division of the assistant treasury department of New York.

The Secretary again recommends the passage of the bill to amend and consolidate the navigation and customs collection laws of the United States.

As the leading pursuits of the country are now stronger than ever before in the possession of adequate capital and a supply of intelligent laborers, there may be a moderate reduction from time to time in the rate of duties, as the diminishing expenses of government shall permit, without either alarming capital or injuring labor. He says: The circulation of the banks should be fixed and limited, and that the power to change the volume of paper in circulation within limits established by law should remain in the treasury department. A degree of flexibility in the volume of currency is essential for two reasons, first, the business of the department cannot be transacted properly if a limit is fixed and the power to raise the circulation above or reduce it below that limit is denied. Secondly, there is a necessity every autumn for moving the crops without delay from the South and West to the seaboard, that they may be in hand for export and consumption as wanted. The problem is to find a way of increasing the currency for moving the crops and diminishing it at once, when that work is done. This is a necessary work, and inasmuch as it cannot be confided to the banks, the power should be reposed in the Treasury department. Believing that the country is not prepared to sustain the policy of contraction, the Secretary considers the means by which the value of our currency may be improved, the basis of the policy of the improvement must be found in a sturdy refusal to add to the paper in circulation until it is of the same value essentially as coin. This being accepted as the settled purpose of the country, there can be no permanent increase of the difference between paper and coin, and an opportunity will be given for the influence of natural causes tending upon the whole to a better financial condition. All legislation limited in its operation the paper issues of the government, whether bearing interest or not, and which in its effects shall tend to diminish the market value of coin will be found upon analysis to contain a plan for contracting the volume of paper currency, and all legislation so limited which does not contain such a plan will prove ineffectual.

The Secretary, without proceeding to the discussion of the general subject of resuming specie payments, thinks that all will have been gained that is of value when the Treasury shall be prepared to pay the demand notes of the government in coin, and the banks shall be prepared to pay their notes either in coin or legal tender notes, and then our good fortune will clearly appear in this, that our paper currency is not exclusively of National Bank notes nor exclusively of United States notes.

In the House, after organization, the following was adopted:

Mr. Dawes rose and said:

Mr. Speaker: Believing that all will concur in the propriety of a public recognition of the events so impressive and so without a parallel in the history of this Government that have recently transpired, I deem it proper to offer the following resolution:

Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives, in view of the recent death of Horace Greeley, for whom at the late election more than three million votes were cast for President, that a record be made in the journals of Congress of appreciation for the eminent services and personal purity and worth of the deceased, and of the sad impression created by his death, following a keen family bereavement.

This resolution was unanimously adopted.

The vote against accepting Banks' resignation was 59 to 76.

Poland, Banks, Beck, Niblack, McCrary, were appointed a committee to investigate the credit Mobilfier.

After a short recess the President's message was at 1:40, P. M., received and read.

NEW YORK.

LETTER FROM THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE.

NEW YORK, December 2.—The following letter has been issued by the National Democratic Committee:

H'DQ'RS NAT'L DEM. COM.,
NEW YORK, Dec. 2d, 1872.

The National Democratic Committee do not regard it as within the scope of the authority delegated to them to advise the electors of the several States, who favored the election of the candidates nominated at the Baltimore Convention, as to the course which they shall pursue, in view of the death of Horace Greeley. Such an event was unprovided for by the action of the Convention succeeding. Conventions will, without doubt, make provisions for a similar contingency, and as no practical result can follow the establishment of a precedent by this committee, it is deemed inadvisable that this committee should make any recommendation to the electors.

Chairman Nat. Dem Com.

MR. GREELEY'S FUNERAL.

WASHINGTON, December 2.—The following telegram was received here yesterday from New York City:

NEW YORK, December 1, 1872.

To Secretary Robeson, Washington, D. C.:

Having the honor of your personal acquaintance, I telegraph you to say that the civic authorities join the private societies and citizens in a public funeral on Wednesday from the City Hall to the late Mr. Greeley's, and the idea is universal that should the President attend, and the authorities hereby respectfully invite him, his attendance would be popularly regarded the most magnanimous, graceful and assuaging event of the country.

[Signed] A. OAKEY HALL,
Mayor of New York.

Hon. A. Oakey Hall, Mayor New York City:

Your telegram was received late last night. The President had determined as early as last Saturday to attend Mr. Greeley's funeral if the day should be one which he could properly be absent from the Capital. He is still of the same mind, and will attend on Wednesday if his public duties, growing out of the assembling of Congress will permit.

ORDINATION OF DEACONS AND ELDERS ON SUNDAY.

Sermons of Bishop Marvin and Pierce.

Dedication of Peachtree Mission Church by Bishop Pierce.

Sunday morning Bishop Marvin ordained the following Deacons at the First Methodist Church:

S D Evins, J P Wardlaw, A Odum, J B McFarland, J S Bryan, D L Anderson, J M Hartin, W W Wadsworth, W Branham, Jr., T J Edwards, J D Malone, G A Gardner, D F Hammond, H E King, W B Bell, J Meaders, C E Dowman, H M Newton, W H LaPrade, J W Hargrove, H J Fowler, W R Stilwell, E Lowry, B B Brown, W J Walton, Shelley P Downs, Robert S C Paden.

He preached an eloquent sermon from Ephesians 5th chapter, 22d to 25th verses, inclusive.

"Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord.

For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the Church, and he is the Savior of the body.

Therefore, as the Church is subject unto Christ, so let the wives be to their own husbands in everything.

Husbands, love your wives even as Christ also loved the Church, and gave himself for it."

The church was thronged, and the vast audience will long remember the eloquence of this able divine.

Bishop Pierce, at night, ordained at Trinity Church the following elders: Wesley G. Hanson, W. A. Parker, Eldridge K. Aiken, J. A. Donald, Jacob S. Geiger, J. O'Donelly.

Bishop Pierce preached from 1 Timothy, 4th chapter and 13 to 16th verses inclusive:

"Till I come, give attendance to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine.

Neglect not the gift that is in thee, which was given thee by prophecy, with the laying on of the hands of the presbytery.

Meditate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them; that thy profiting may appear unto all.

Take heed unto thyself, and unto thy doctrine; continue in them; for in doing this thou shalt both save thyself, and them that hear thee."

The sermon was full of power and spirit. At three o'clock Sunday afternoon, Bishop Pierce dedicated the Peachtree Mission Church. His text was: John—10th chapter, 9th verse—"I am the door; by me if any man enter he shall be saved, and shall go in and out and find pasture." The sermon was in Bishop Pierce's finest vein.

The Latest Card of the Independents.

We are informed that the Independents have gotten up a card calling on the Mayor to issue orders and give us a municipal election like the President's election.

Save, as good Mayor, from such a result, in which the Farrow persecutor ruled the roost and carried the election; save us from a repetition of bstoned Federal Marshals.

NATIONAL COMMERCIAL CONVENTION.—The National Commercial Convention meets in St. Louis on the 11th day of December. We learn that our Chamber of Commerce meets to-night, and as delegates will be appointed, we re-publish the resolutions relating to delegates, adopted at Baltimore in September, 1871:

"Each incorporated city shall be entitled to one delegate, and to one additional delegate to every 50,000 inhabitants over the first 50,000; provided, that no city shall be entitled to more than ten delegates; the same to be chosen by the City Council, or appointed by the Mayor, in case no other choice is made.

"Each railroad, steamboat, manufacturing and mining company having a cash capital of $75,000 shall be entitled to one delegate, to be appointed by the stockholders or Board of Directors.

"Each Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade, or other similar organization, shall be entitled to one delegate to every fifty active members over the first fifty, provided that no such body shall be entitled to more than ten delegates.

Also, delegates are requested to report to the Hon James Brown, Mayor of St. Louis, of their appointment and intention to be present, and in case of desiring to lay any subject before the consideration of the Convention, delegates are asked to forward a written statement of such subject at least ten days before the session of the Convention, to E. G. Smith, Esq., Secretary.

Atlanta should be well represented in the Convention. The Atlantic and Great Western Canal which is a matter of interest to our people will be one subject of discussion before the Convention.

HENRY P. FARROW GIVING ATLANTA A DEMOCRATIC MAYOR.—Of all the preposterous satisfactions aye, audacities so bold, absurd and utterly ridiculous, as well as shocking to every proper sensibility of our best people, ever perpetrated, the attempt of Henry P. Farrow to give Atlanta a Democratic Mayor is the most preposterous.

The remembrance of what this man has done so very recently, in the persecution of our best citizens for their simple exercise of the sacred right of casting a Democratic ballot for the candidate of their choice, should make them sensible to the rancor of his active and open hostility. But when his malice comes insidiously bearing gifts, and proposes to clutch the city government by the stave of a Democratic candidate, it is time for our people to open their eyes.

And from it's comment we have heard freely circulating on the streets, there is an amount of Democratic indignation rising against this attempted entrapment of the party and transfer of the city government to Farrow's malignant control, that will sweep the conspirators to a stunning defeat like a whirlwind.

Henry P. Farrow giving Atlanta a so-called Democratic Mayor is rich, and it won't "go down." Too thin! Too thin!!

OLE BULL'S CONCERTS.—This distinguished violinist will give two of his concerts in this city, the one on the 11th and the other the 12th of this month. His remarkable skill in execution, and the marvelous sympathy of his touch is too well known to require one word from us. Ole Bull is assisted at his concerts by the pretty prima donna Miss Ridgeway, who supported Miss Nilsson during her operatic season. Also by Signor Ferranti, late of the Parepa Rosa Company, the Prince of Buffo Singers, as he is justly styled; and the eminent pianist and composer, Mr. J. N. Pattison, is with them. These names are sufficient to bring together large audiences of the elite of our city.

SEVENTH WARD DEMOCRATIC CLUB.—At a meeting of this Club last night, after transacting regular business, Maj. W. B. Cox was unanimously nominated as the Democratic candidate for Water Commissioner from the Seventh Ward.

WATER COMMISSIONERS.—Fourth Ward, J. M. Toy; Sixth Ward, C. L. Redwine; Seventh Ward, W. B. Cox. These gentlemen were nominated last night in Democratic ward meetings, and will be voted for on the Democratic ticket to-morrow.

THE COURTS.

Fulton Superior Court—Grand Jury—Bodell Case Continued—Trial of Beatly for Murder.

The following composes the Grand Jury for the present week: S. B. Wight, foreman; J. Henly Smith, David Mayer, Jacob Weaver, W. J. Mallard, J. J. Magruder, Chero Bridwell, W. S. Rosser, J. P. Dean, Thomas Kile, John Hasbrook, A. B. Mathews, W. F. Meador, R. O. Douglas, W. M. Lowry, E. Parsons, W. S. Shuttles, John T. Hagan.

After empanneling the grand and petit juries, and the Judge's usual impressive charge to the grand jury, the case of Pen Bodell, charged with the murder of Policeman Rosberry, was called. His counsel, Gen. Gartrell, moved for a continuance on the ground of absence of important witnesses. The motion for continuance was overruled, but a postponement allowed, probably till January next.

Then the case of the State vs. Moses H. Bentley, charged with the murder of Malcolm Claiborne, a member of the State Legislature, in the summer of 1870, was called.

His counsel, Colonel S B Spencer, made a motion for a continuance on the ground of absent witnesses, which was overruled, as sufficient diligence had not been used to procure their attendance, and the case was ordered to proceed. Soon after 2 o'clock P. M. the jury was completed, of which the following is a list: J A Casey, Aaron Hass, M R Shropshire, R D Veazey, J L Dukes, J D Garrison, W A Hemphill, Wm Gray, W H Mitchell, J F Logan, T T Pope, W G Maddox.

The first witness on behalf of the State was

W. F. WESTMORELAND, M. D.

About July, 1870, I was called upon to examine the body of Malcolm Claiborn. The first I saw of him he was laid in my office yard. When I saw him he was dead; the body was warm; he had died within an hour previously. I made an examination of the body afterwards. I found a gun shot wound. The wound was on his left side. The ball passed through the lower portion of the heart, and perhaps through both lungs. I only saw one wound. He died from that wound. The next witness was who testified, In summer of 1870, I was in Capitol building, and saw some of the difficulty between defendant and deceased; I was going along the passage near Hall of the Representatives, for purpose of going into the gallery of the Senate; I entered the building from Forsyth street; I had passed the door going into Representative Hall, and when I got within four or five feet of the steps going down to Marietta street, my attention was attracted by some one saying, "Take it back," and instantly a pistol fired; I recognized the defendant but not the deceased; he said again, "take it back," and fired again; the third time he said "take it back," and fired; after the first fire deceased commenced turning round, moving round slowly; he moved round and started down the steps, and defendant exploded a cap at him after the third fire; I never saw defendant after that; the ball was fired immediately with a crowd from the Hall of Representatives, and I never saw defendant after he passed me going to the cloak room, (here a diagram was shown to witness, and he explained the position of the parties at the time of the difficulty; at the time of the firing defendant and deceased were pretty close together, not exceeding two feet apart; after the third shot deceased turned clear round and started down the steps; then he was out of my sight when defendant exploded the cap at him; I did not see if the deceased fell; I saw no more of him; at the time of firing I did not know deceased; I thought it was another person; I saw nothing in his hands; I think he did not shoot; last time I saw defendant he was in the aisle, going with his pistol in his hand; he was walking at an ordinary speed; I think this occurred between 9 and 10 o'clock, before the Senate met.

On cross-examination witness said: I at first supposed the person shot was Wallace, as there had been a difficulty before him and defendant; there was no one with Claiborne at all; I was about the entrance of the Clerk's room; I did not go on, but stepped back two or three steps, and Bently passed me; at the first firing I stepped back a few steps, as it was pretty reckless shooting; he had the pistol in both hands, and I did not want to get shot myself; the firing was very quick; take it back and fire, take it back and fire, take it back and fire; the fourth cap exploded as he went down stairs.

The next witness was

who testified to the same facts as far as he saw them. He testified that as he entered the stairway from Marietta street and had taken a step or two inside, he heard some one at the head of the steps say "Take it back you damned"—&c., or words to that effect. That remark attracted my attention. I looked up and saw Claiborn giving back, at the head of the stairs. About the same time I heard the report of a pistol. I could not see the person who fired it. I turned back and got behind the iron pillar. I heard three shots. I then opened the door and went up stairs again. Claiborn was about falling or sitting on the steps. I asked him if he was hurt, but he did not answer.

The State announced closed. The first witness offered for the defense was, who testified to considerable equibbling and difficulty among the members of what he termed the Constitutional Convention and members of the Legislature. Among these were the deceased, Wallace, a colored Senator, Alpcoria, the noted Wahoo, Tunis G. Campbell, another colored Senator, and Bentley, the defendant. They had boarded with witness, and the quarrel waxed so warm among them that Bentley and Wallace deemed it advisable to secede. Witness heard repeated threats made by Wallace and deceased against defendant, of which he had notified and warned defendant only a short time previous to the killing of Claiborn.

ROBERT WEBSTER ALIAS YANCEY,

The next witness was

J. G MAULL, M. D.,

who was at the time a member of the House of Representatives from Muscogee county. He testified that on the morning of the difficulty he was in conversation with Bentley, when the deceased came and asked one of the Pages for letters. Bentley being the Messenger, answered Claiborn. Claiborn immediately said, "Didn't I tell you not to speak to me, you ——— (using profane language.) Soon after this I was in the passage way and heard Wallace and Claiborne in conversation. Did not distinctly hear all that was said. They were very excited in manner, and were speaking about Bentley. I immediately went to Bentley and warned him to beware of them—to attend to his own business, and keep out of their company. Bentley had then mail matter in his hands, and said that he was obliged to carry the mail to the Post Office, and get out the morning's mail. The place of the alleged difficulty was on his road to the Post Office.

At the conclusion of his testimony Court adjourned until this morning.

THE CITY COURT.

The City Court was in session, but was altogether engaged on the civil docket.

THE "SO-CALLED" CITIZEN'S TICKET—A BOGUS CONCERN.—The credulity displayed by the men engineering the "Citizen's" so-called ticket, is utterly amazing. The people have become thoroughly acquainted with the fact that a clique of free-and-men are running this whole concern of the "Citizen's" or "Independent" movement. A citizen's meeting was called, but none assembled. Who, then, are the individuals presuming to set in this manner? Let them understand, that some of them are well known, and this knowledge alone is sufficient to kill the movement. Yes the "Independent" movement is dead, and Wednesday's result will prove it the "deadest" corpse this city has seen for many a day.

PRIDE.—A fine fancy horse, covered with a fine, showy horse blanket, and attached to a buggy, ran away on the lower part of Decatur street yesterday, and succeeded in going fifty or seventy-five yards before he could be checked up. Cause—professed to be frightened at an antiquated mule with the epizoot, and covered with the remnant of an old army blanket and attached to a little wagon.

LIBRARY GIFT CONCERT.

$500,000 IN B

The Daily Constitution.

WANTED.

"Man wants but little here below,
Nor wants that little long."
'Tis not with me exactly so,
But 'tis so in the song;
My wants are many, and, if told,
Would number nearly a score.

What first I want is daily bread—
And cover-backs—and wine—
And all the cuisine of nature spread
Before me when I dine.

Four courses or more can provide
My appetite to quell;
With four chicken cooks from France besides
To dress my dinner well.

What next I want at princely cost,
In elegant attire;
Black cable fare for winter's frost,
And silks for summer's wear.

And Cashmere shawls and Brussels lace
My bosom's front to deck,
And diamond rings my hands to grace,
And rubies for my neck.

I want (who does not want) a wife—
Affectionate and fair;
To season all my woes of life,
And all its joys to share.

Of temper sweet, of yielding will,
Of firm, yet placid mind—
With all my faults to love me still,
With sentiment refined.

And as Time's car increasant runs,
And Fortune fills my store,
I want of daughters and of sons
From eight to half a score.

I want (alas, can mortals dare
Such bliss on earth to crave?)
That all the girls be chaste and fair—
The boys all wise and brave.

Humor.

A young man engaged in making himself attractive to a young lady, was taken with a violent fit of coughing, and brought up two marbles he had swallowed when a boy. The young lady dismissed him. She said she didn't want to marry a stone quarry.

A young lady who has just returned from Europe advises her friends not to go there, "unless you are sure that you know enough to appreciate the beauties of Europe. It lends such a charm to Italy to remember that among these groves of olive the immortal Beethoven sculptured the Medicean burns, and Shakespeare composed the sublime poem of Paradise Lost."

On the night of the fire in Boston a dealer in boots and shoes, finding that the fire had reached his rear store, said to a few strangers who had assisted him, "you might as well help yourself to boots." One fellow took a pair the merchant handed him, and after glancing at them said, "you haven't got a pair of slim sevens, have you?" An explosion next door prevented a response.

Connubialities.

An old man's advice to young men is, don't make love to two girls at once. Love is a good thing, but it is like butter in warm weather—it won't do to have too much on hand at the same time.

A sympathetic Norwich man stopping in Boston, in learning to check the fire a great many buildings must be blown up, at once offered to contribute his mother-in-law for the purpose.

A young lawyer who had long paid his court to a lady without advancing his suit, accused her one day of "being insensible to the power of love." "It does not follow," she replied, "that I am so, because I am not to be won by the power of attorney." "Forgive me," replied the suitor, "but you should remember that all the votaries of cupid are solicitors."

Miscellaneous.

The press that printers like—A press of business.

A Leavenworth editor sat down in a reserved seat already occupied by a hornet. He stands up when scissoring his editorials now.

"An exchange announces, on the death of a lady, that she "lived fifty years with her husband, and died in confident hope of a better life."

"It is forty years, my old friend John, since we were boys together." Is it? "Well, don't speak so loud; there's that young widow in the next room."

It is for sale in my Coal Yard, between Peachtree and Broad streets, and near to Walton street. I solicit those who have not yet used it to give it a trial and compare its quality with other Coal offered for sale at the same price. I have sold the

Coal Creek Coal

in this city since 1867, and now offer it in any quantity, at wholesale or retail, from 10 cents worth up, thanking my numerous friends who have patronized me, asking a continuance of the same with a large increase in number.

This Coal was awarded the first prize at the last State Fair as the best GRATE COAL.

I have a certificate from Wm. C. Castler, Esq., the owner of the English Road Steamer, that was exhibited at the last State Fair in this city, that it is the best Coal he had seen in the United States (or any other country) for making steam.

I have to pay cash for the Coal and freight, therefore cannot sell it on credit.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN JURUBEBA BLOOD PURIFIER

It is not a physic which may give temporary relief to the sufferer for the first few doses, but which, from continued use brings Piles and kindred disease to old in weakening the invalid, nor is it a doctored liquor, which, under the popular name of "Bitters" is so extensively palmed off on the public as sovereign remedies, but it is a most powerful Tonic and Alterative, pronounced so by the leading medical authorities of London and Paris, and has been long used by the royal physicians of other countries with wonderful remedial results.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

retains all the medical virtues peculiar to its plant and must be taken as a permanent curative agent.

Is there want of action in your Liver and Spleen? Unless relieved at once the blood becomes impure by deleterious secretions, producing scrofula or skin diseases, Boutons, Pimples, Pustules, Canker, Pimples, etc.

IF EITHER IS ELECTED

EVERY PERSON IN THE STATE

will want to get into some business that they can MAKE A HANDSOME THING OF.

WE have two articles of our own invention and patent that is needed in every household, and meets with ready sale—both paying large profits—for which we wish to sell territory. We have all the territory of the United States to sell or exchange for good real estate, except the States of Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Alabama and three counties in the State of Georgia.

One of our inventions and patents is a Peach Stoner and Halver. With this machine, one hand can do the work of six or eight hands, and at the same time increasing the value of the fruit 25 to 30 per cent; when dried, as it cuts the peach in strictly halves and thereby prevents worms from getting in the dried fruit.

Men, in selling the machines, can make very easily if a good salesman from FIVE TO FIFTY DOLLARS per day, clear of all expense.

Having been a cotton planter, and being fond of farming, I would exchange the right to one or both plantation, with or without stock and provisions, in South Georgia or Middle Florida.

Call at my office on Marietta street, or address.
